CONTROL Zone

Your online guide to the sensational world of Sega and Sonic The Comic. Hosted by Megadroid.

Welcome Screen

Hey, Boomers!

Here we go with issue three of Britain's only Sega-powered comic! Already it seems like Boomers everywhere have given Sonic The Comic a massive thumbs-up. The Control Zone mail bins are overflowing with your letters, drawings and Data Strips. It does my pleasure circuits a power of good to see the humes round here almost buried under your letters. Keep it up!

Check out STC's amazing free gift this issue. A giant poster, not only featuring our pal Sonic The Hedgehog, but, on the flip side, an added bonus of a fabulous Steel Talons poster, courtesy of the friendly humes at Domark. Scope out the Mega Drive game - it'll spin your rotors!

Enough chat from me. There's a thrill-packed issue ahead, Boomers, including the final part of The STC Grand Opening Compo. Get those entry forms in, Sega consoles and clothing are just waiting to be won!

Megadroid

Hot-shot Alert!

The high scores and achievements are rolling in from Boomers all over the country - but we still need more before STC starts its high score coverage. So, if you consider yourself a hot-shot on any particular Sega game - new or old - fill in the Data Strip at the back of this and every issue of STC and let your fellow Boomers know all about it.

Kid Chameleon: A possible high-scoring game? Watch for the new comic strip coming soon to STC.

Forget those Hollywood tough guys who jet around the world opening burger restaurants, the true celebrities flock to the Sega Superstars. Take a look at these famous faces who recently had the honour to meet Sonic and Tails.

Terry and Brian of East 17 barely conceal their delight in meeting another pair of chart-busting champions. So, lads, how did your last album do compared to the sales of SONIC THE HEDGEHOG 2?

A very tall Chris 'Big Breakfast' Evans looms over Sonic and Tails. Meanwhile, David Jensen has his ear closely studied by Tails.

under 40% - Yawnsville

80 - 90% - Big Time City

over 90% - Mega City!

DOUBLE CLUTCH is a top-down racer which can be played by one or two players. In one-player mode it is a good, challenging racer. In two-player mode it is hopelessly addictive! You just cannot wait to hammer the opposition - in the friendliest way, of course!

The courses have all the usual items like oil slicks, icy patches and part power-ups. There is also a special scanner to show where you are on the track and how far away the opposition is.

You can choose from three different drivers to start with, each with their own special driving skills. You also earn cash for each race you win which can be used to power up your car before the next race.

DOUBLE CLUTCH is unusual in that it is a two-megabit cart. The vast majority of Mega Drive games take up four megabits or more to beef up the graphics more.

Overall DOUBLE CLUTCH is average-looking but it plays very well and is a truly great two-player game. - TT.

game type:

SHOOT'EM UP

1 PLAYER

Recently, some magazines reviewed the Japanese import version of AFTERBURNER III - and hated it. Well, things have changed.

AFTERBURNER III has been substantially rewritten with more action, better controls and even faster moves!

Sega decided this classic title needed to live up to the high expectations in Europe and the US and it went to town to make sure that quality was delivered.

You get to fly a Tomcat jet fighter and have to intercept enemy forces. You are placed in a forward-facing cockpit and have to zap planes that come out of the horizon. You can spin 360 degrees or veer left or right as well as use your special afterburner to accelerate away from bogies who attack from behind. There are some great sequences with you zooming in and out of the cockpit, just like G-Loc in the arcades.

You also get to fly low-level bombing missions where you lob and fire missiles at ground level. This helps to break up the more routine play.

The music is absolutely gob-smacking; real finger-riggin', humpin' pumpin' stuff, with a little James Brown-style soul thrown in for good measure.

If you like high-flying shooters, AFTERBURNER III is a must-to-buy! -TT.

1 PLAYER

Every so often you get to play a classic Master System title. Mickey Mouse is one good example and, I'm pleased to say, FLASH seems to have the same great play and presentation qualities. FLASH closely follows the style of the classic comic book and, more recently, TV adventures. You have to take on the villainous Twister across different scenarios, take out his henchmen and face fiendish dangers.

Flash can run, jump and spin like a top. You have to really pace yourself and learn the stages if you are going to crack the game. The action takes place against a horizontally scrolling backdrop littered with goodies, power-ups and beastly brutes. At first you may find the speed of the game daunting but hang in there!

The graphics are some of the best ever seen on the Master System. Sound is bouncy and adds to the gameplay which is very challenging. What really helps to set this game apart from the run of the mill platformers is the way the stages are laid out. The ledges and dangers are staggered so that you really have to get your timing right to get past certain sections. You have to mix your blinding speed attacks with careful jumps and palm-sweating ledge drops!

Grips & Bits

The add-on market for the Sega systems is growing rapidly. In this special STC survey David Gibbon scopes out the best in alternative control devices and necessary accessories to help your gameplay.

Megadrive Joysticks

ProPad - £16.99

The Mega Drive's joypad is a limited device with just three buttons and the D-pad. A number of replacement joypads have come onto the market but this has to be one of the best.

The manufacturers have gone mad while making this. It has everything a games player needs - extra features include two large buttons which you can use as an extra A, B or C button. Autofire can be set to full or semi and has three different speeds. A, B or C buttons can be set to autofire individually or all together. It even has slow motion, with two speeds to help you get through very fast games.

The whole thing looks very fashionable with its see-through case and multi-coloured buttons.

RATING: 96%

Megastar - £29.99

Many computer users, switching to the Mega Drive, complain about the joypad. They find it difficult to use compared to the more familiar joysticks. Even some newcomers to gaming don't like using them. So what's the solution? Buy a joystick of course!

The Megastar is a very large joystick so younger gamers will have to place it on a tabletop to play. It's almost impossible to use it hand held. It has a number of features and is switchable, so left and right-handed gamers will find it easy to use.

It has autofire and slow motion, although there is only one setting, making it less flexible than the ProPad. The main stick is about 50 cm high, but it takes a lot of effort to move it. I stuck it to a table while playing Road Rash 2 and nearly pulled the table over!

The stick looks good with, again, a see-through design and is very robust, but it's better suited to the older gamer.

RATING: 74%

Sg Fighter - £17.99

Here's one for ex-computer users coming to the Mega Drive - a joystick that has been available for sometime for the Amiga.

The Sg Fighter is shaped to look just like a joystick in a fighter aircraft. The main stick is large and easy to move, making it great for fast-action games. It's bulky so it is best to use a table surface if you have small hands. Ten year-olds and up should find no problem holding it in their hands, though.

It features autofire and slow motion. Again, only one setting is allowed. The joystick has two red lights which come on when C or B buttons are pressed.

The biggest problem is the B button. When playing something like Road Rash 2, B must be pressed all the time to keep going which can lead to cramp as it's so small. Keeping one hand holding the joystick, another moving the main stick and trying to press the tiny B makes it difficult, to say the least!

It's possible to live with the B button, and if you must have a joystick this is certainly one of the best. The large stick makes playing games a dream.

RATING: 85%

Console Accessories

Logic 3 Multi-Case Mega Drive and Master System - £16.99

Logic 3 Game Gear Deluxe Carry-Case - £14.99

If you want to keep your system and games dust free and tidy then why not invest in a special bag. These cases are soft padded with an adjustable carrying strap. They have a main compartment for your system and a separate part for your games. The Game Gear case also has space for a battery, power and car adaptor. A great idea.

RATING: 88%

Logic 3 Game Gear Battery Adaptor - £29.99

Logic 3 Game Gear Power Adaptor - £6.99

Logic 3 Game Gear Car Adaptor - £6.99

You know how boring long car journeys get. However, you can now take your Game Gear and play the hours away by using a car adaptor. It just plugs into the car's lighter socket.

If you play with the Game Gear where electrical sockets are available then you should definitely buy the Power Adaptor as buying batteries can cost a fortune.

If you must use batteries then it may be wise to invest in a Battery Adaptor. It is going to cost you nearly £40 and you also need the power adaptor to recharge it. You get two hours of play after recharging for seven hours.

Sizzling Silpheed!

Latest news and pics of the hottest Mega CD game yet

The most awesome piece of Mega CD software yet is rapidly nearing completion.

Silpheed was previewed at last year's Consumer Electronics Show in Chicago. Then it looked stunning but the latest version is truly mind-blowing!

Silpheed features incredible space sequences with huge motherships rotating and exploding into literally thousands of pieces in front of your eyes. There are trench scenes straight out of 'Star Wars' and other amazing 360-degree space action. There are asteroid fields to weave through and zippy spaceships to zap and avoid.

It completely outfoxes and leaves out on a wing other well-known Star-type games!

Because of the complex technical nature of Silpheed no release date or price has yet been set, but these will be announced very soon.

Give it some Stick!

Prepare for hot action with Sega's new 6-button Arcade Power Stick.

This palm-sweating hunk of stick allows you to get the most from new games that have optional 6-button control - Street Fighter 2 comes to mind for some reason. You can switch between three and six-button games at the flick of a switch.

Its shape is similar to the old Arcade Power Stick and it is slightly bigger. The three extra buttons are situated in an arc across the original A, B and C buttons. There are also sliders for rapid fire and slo-mo functions.

For Street Fighter 2 and other fighting games it is a must-have item.

The new 6-button Arcade Power Stick retails at £24.99 and should be available wherever Sega products are sold - which is just about everywhere!

Coincidentally, there is also a new 6-button controller being released for the Sega Genesis (Mega Drive) in the USA. This one, however, is much smaller and is modelled on the standard Mega Drive joystick. Will it ever be released over here? Only Sega knows.

Sonic the Windbag!

NEWS

What's 30 metres tall, full of hot air, blue, spikey, and flies above the trees very slowly? Why, Sonic The Balloon, of course!

This awesome piece of aeronautics first flew in public back in February and will be seen at major sporting and other events all over Europe this summer (see dates elsewhere).

Just to give you an idea how big the balloon is, the total amount of material used to make it would cover a football pitch!

British balloon-spotters will be able to catch sight of Sonic The Balloon at several events this summer. Watch STC for details.

SUPER KICK OFF

Football games have not been brilliant on the Mega Drive, however, Super Kick Off changed all that.

The game is certainly the most playable, but to score takes some special moves. If the game is proving difficult try these tips:

There are only two ways to score in this game. You can run down the left/right wing and when you are touching the box move the player around so he runs towards the goal diagonally then immediately press A to shoot.

The second way is more difficult, takes more practice to perfect but makes it possible to win 14-0! Again run down the left/right wing and just after the half-way line goes off the screen press A and LEFT or RIGHT, depending on the way you are shooting, simultaneously. The ball should curve round the goalie into the net!

When playing always select the real grass pitch, the one with the stripes, because it makes scoring much easier. Remember you can mark players which really does make a big difference. Always put them on their defenders to stop them scoring.

STREETS OF RAGE

One of the great fighting games available for the Sega hand-held and still riding high in the charts. For those who need extra help to win here is a cheat for level select and to make you invincible.

First go to the Options screen and select the sound test. Play tracks 00 and 01. Then play track 11, pressing buttons 1 and 2 at the same time. Two options will appear on screen allowing you to access the cheat.

Tails-less

Dear STC,

I love the mag. I love the strips. I love the features. I love freebies - and it is excellent value for money. My only major gripe is Tails. Sega have really underestimated him. They probably don't know this but most people, including me, prefer him to Sonic (not that we don't like Sonic!). The most we saw of Tails in STC 1 was as a free sticker, a Sonic 2 badge, a screenshot in the Q Zone and when Sonic announced that he might be in trouble. Please include him in more future issues.

Long Live STC!

MARTIN BRAID, WETHERBY, YORKS. SONIC BADGE WINNER.

As you will have seen by now, Martin, Tails is very much part of Sonic's adventures - and he really was in trouble! Lots more Tails action to come.

Poster Power

Dear STC

I've read your first issue and I think it's great. Will you be doing any very big posters of Kid CHAMELEON or any others in your future issues? C. 'GAME FREAK' THOMPSON, GOSPORT, HANTS. SONIC BADGE WINNER.

Hope you like the giant Sonic poster in this issue, Game Freak. As for others, well, what do you think? Don't forget Kid CHAMELEON starts his own brand new comic strip in STC 7.

Questions

Dear Sonic,

How come you are blue and can run so fast if you are a hedgehog? Why isn't there a strip for Ecco and could you tell me a cheat for Kid Chameleon?

LEO HARDT, LONDON. MD OWNER. SONIC BADGE WINNER.

Watch for Sonic's origin story coming up soon. Keep an eye open for Ecco. Check out the Q Zone for Kid Chameleon tips.

No Rip-off

Dear STC,

I am writing to congratulate you on such an excellent comic and for keeping it at such an excellent price. Most mags nowadays are a total rip-off. I am a Game Gear owner and when I heard that such an excellent comic was out at such a low price I rushed over to the newsagent to get it.

Keep up the great work.

ANDREW WIGGER, WORSLEY, MANCHESTER. GG OWNER. SONIC BADGE WINNER.

Of course you know why STC is at such a low price, don't you, Andrew? It's because those humes who think they run this comic don't pay me a penny - not even a can of oil! Still, as long as you're happy, I'm happy.

Bonkers

Dear Megadroid,

Thanks to your Q Zone I can now complete Sonic 2 and Road RASH 2.

Thanks also for the totally brill stickers. I've stuck them in my Sonic folder and Sonic pencil case.

Oh, if you haven't got my Data Strip I rated your first issue 100%. All I can say now is I can't wait until issue two of STC because I'm Sonic bonkers!

JAMES KENNEDY, SEVENOAKS, KENT. MD OWNER. SONIC BADGE WINNER.

I did get your Data Strip, James. I'm pleased to say you weren't the only one to rate STC 1 at 100%. Seems nearly everybody thought the same!
